VI. Reading comprehension

There is very little documentation about the origins of water polo. It is known, however, that the sport originated in the rivers and lakes of mid-19th century England as an aquatic version of rugby. Early games used an inflated rubber ball that came from India known as a "pulu" (the single Indian word for all "balls").

Pronounced "polo" by the English, both the game and the ball became known as "water polo." To attract more spectators to swimming exhibitions, the London Swimming Association designed a set of water polo rules for indoor swimming pools in 1870. At first, players scored by planting the ball on the end of the pool with both hands. A favorite trick of the players was to place the five-to-nine inch rubber ball inside their swimming suit and dive under the murky water, they would then appear again as close to the goal as possible. The introduction of the rules by Scottish players changed the nature of water polo. It became a game that emphasized swimming, speed and passing. Scottish rules moved from a rugby variant to a soccer style of play. Goals became a cage of 10x 3 feet and a goal could be scored by being thrown. Players could only be tackled when they "held" the ball and the ball could no longer be taken under water. The small rubber ball was replaced by a leather soccer ball. If the player came up too near the goal, he was promptly jumped on by the goalie, who was permitted to stand on the pool deck. Games were often nothing more than gang fights in the water as players ignored the ball, preferring underwater wrestling matches that usually ended with one man floating to the surface unconscious. Water polo was first played in the USA in 1888. The game featured the old rugby style of play which resembled American football in the water. "American style" water polo became very popular and by the late 1890s was played in such venues as Madison Square Garden and Boston's Mechanics Hall, attracting 14,000 spectators to national championship games.

I. Read the passage carefully and choose the correct answer.

There is no way to measure the value of reading, but we know that books educate and bring great pleasure to people. Many book lovers even join discussion groups so that they can talk about the books they read. Although books are made into movies, the book version is much better. Books are available to everyone at no cost. Public libraries are an American tradition and every library has a large collection of books on every subject. Reading can prepare you for an examination at school, or, if you are writing a report, you can gather facts from a recent edition of an encyclopedia. At your job, reading can help you get a promotion to higher position. If you like mysteries, you can read about the search for a stolen treasure or a spy on a secret mission. If you like science fiction, you can read about a spacecraft trying to avoid a collision with a meteor or a dangerous experiment that could end in an explosion that would destroy the earth. If you long to travel but cannot afford to do it, reading allows you to travel without restriction in your imagination.

1. The passage is about _____.

- A. libraries B. readers C. book lovers D. reading and its benefits

2. According to the writer _____.

- A. we can measure the value of reading B. reading offers us no pleasure
C. most of the book lovers do not like discussing books D. some books are made into the movies

3. Many books joined discussion group _____.

- A. to educate other people B. to bring pleasure to other people
C. to talk about the book they read D. to get a promotion

4. Which sentence is NOT TRUE?

- A. If you like mysteries, you can't find any books about them. B. There are several books on science fiction.
C. A library has a large collection of books on every subject. D. There are many public libraries in America.

5. Reading _____.

- A. can allow you to travel by plane
B. can help readers widen their knowledge, get promotion, and entertain themselves

C. is a dangerous experiment D. can't help readers avoid a collision with a meteor.

Years ago, in their private family role, women quite often dominate the male members of the household. Women were quite (6) _____ to their families. However, the public role of women has changed dramatically since the beginning of World War II.

During the war, men were away from home to the battle. As a (7) _____, women were in complete control of the home. They found themselves doing double and sometimes triple duty. They began to take over the work of their absent husbands and to work outside. They accounted for 73% of the industrial labor force. Women were forced by economic realities to work in the factories. The women who worked there were paid low wages, lived in crowded and small dormitories. (8) _____, they found themselves a place as active members of society. Women, although they were ruthlessly exploited, became the key to the country's success.

The feminist movement seems to have been an important part in the demands (9) _____ women Equal Rights. The movement tends to have a way of changing men and women and their roles in society. It often redefines the role of women in society. Inventions, too, bring progress in society as well as to the individual's life. II. Cloze test

Years ago, in their private family role, women quite often dominate the male members of the household. Women were quite (31) _____ to their families. However, the public role of women has changed dramatically since the beginning of World War II.

During the war, men were away from home to the battle. As a (32) _____, women were in complete control of the home. They found themselves doing double and sometimes triple duty. They began to take over the work of their absent husbands and to work outside. They accounted for 73% of the industrial labor force. Women were forced by economic realities to work in the factories. The women who worked there were paid low wages, lived in crowded and small dormitories. (33) _____, they found themselves a place as active members of society. Women, although they were ruthlessly exploited, became the key to the country's success.

The feminist movement seems to have been an important part in the demands (34) _____ women Equal Rights. The movement tends to have a way of changing men and women and their roles in society. It often redefines the role of women in society. Inventions, too, bring progress in society as well as to the individual's life. In the late nineteenth century the invention of the typewriter gave women a new skill and a job outside the home. The Suffragettes in the turn of the century has become a (35) _____ for most women to be engaged in equality.

III. Read the passage carefully and choose the correct answer.

There is no way to measure the value of reading, but we know that books educate and bring great pleasure to people. Many book lovers even join discussion groups so that they can talk about the books they read. Although books are made into movies, the book version is much better. Books are available to everyone at no cost. Public libraries are an American tradition and every library has a large collection of books on every subject. Reading can prepare you for an examination at school, or, if you are writing a report, you can gather facts from a recent edition of an encyclopedia. At your job, reading can help you get a promotion to higher position. If you like mysteries, you can read about the search for a stolen treasure or a spy on a secret mission. If you like science fiction, you can read about a spacecraft trying to avoid a collision with a meteor or a dangerous experiment that could end in an explosion that would destroy the earth. If you long to travel but cannot afford to do it, reading allows you to travel without restriction in your imagination.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions

Animals share the earth with us. They fascinate us with their beauty, their grace, and their speed. However, animals are endangered. Many of them have died, and without special care, they may someday disappear from the Earth.

Is it important to care for animals? One reason is to protect the balance of life on Earth. Another reason is the beauty of the animals themselves. Each species of animal is special. Once it is gone, it is gone forever.

It is people who cause many of the problems that animals face. We alter and pollute their habitats. We hunt them for skins, tusks, furs, and horns. We destroy animals that get in the way of farming and building. We remove them from their natural habitats and take them home as pets.

What can you do to help endangered animals? Learn as much as you can about them. The more you know, the more you can help. Make an effort to support zoos and wildlife groups. Many zoos breed endangered animals, helping to ensure that they will continue to live on. You can also be a smart shopper and never buy a pet that has been raised in the wilderness.

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C, or D on your answer sheet to indicate the correct answer to each of the questions

It has been thought that women are the second class in citizen, and men are the first. There is not a real equality of opportunity for men and women. Years ago, people were living in a man-dominated society. Women had to obey their husbands and fathers absolutely. Women's place was in the kitchen and women's work was housework. In many places, women were not even allowed to go to school. Women had no rights, even the right to choose husband for themselves. Men usually occupied high positions in society so they thought they were more intelligent than women. Men often considered women as their property. Sometimes, they were mistreated by their husbands and suffered the problem as a fate. Many parents did not even want to daughters.

Despite the progress, there remain outdated beliefs about women's roles, traditionally passed down from generation to generation. Men are commonly seen as the strong bodies, bread-winners in the family and key leaders in society, while women are restricted to being housewives and childbearing and childrearing, as well as doing housework such as washing and cooking.

According to social surveys, many women in the 21st century still have to work over 12 hours a day including working in offices and doing countless household chores without any help from their husbands. In some regions, the labor of women is not recognized despite the hardships they endure to support the whole family. Moreover, women are the direct victims of family violence, especially in rural areas.

Thanks to the women's liberation movement, nowadays women have proved that they are equal to men in every aspect. An average woman has weaker muscles than an average man but she may be as intelligent as he is. Women can do everything that men can, and women can do one thing that no man can: they produce children.

56. In a man- dominated society, _____.

- A. women were the first class. B. women had no right.
C. women were respected by men. D. women got a good education.

57. Years ago, women's place was _____.

- A. in society B. at school C. in the Congress D. in the kitchen

58. According to the text, women in the 21st century _____.

- A. are still the victims of family violence in some rural areas
B. do not have to do housework any more
C. get help from their husbands with all housework
D. spend less than 12 hours working outside the home and doing housework

59. In a man- dominated society, _____.

- A. all parents expected to have daughters.
B. most parents liked girl babies.
C. most parents did not want to have daughters.
D. most parents did not like sons.

60. Nowadays women have proved that they are _____ men.

Read the passage and choose the best answer (A or B, C, D) from 5 to 9.

All around the world, there are many endangered animals, largely because of human progress. As the world's population grows, humans move into new areas, create more pollution, and use more natural resources. This all puts pressure on animals, which cannot really compete with humans. An excellent example of this would be the case of the leatherback sea turtle.

At 6.5 meters long, and up to 600 kilograms, the leatherback is the largest turtle on Earth. It is also one of the most endangered. Scientists do not know the exact number of leatherbacks because they spend their entire lives at sea. This makes them very difficult to count. But female leatherbacks come on land to lay their eggs. From the number of nests that scientists find, they can estimate the number of turtles. The numbers do not show a good future for the leatherback. At one beach, scientists counted over 10,000 egg nests in 1954. In 1993, there were only 50 nests at the same beach. Scientists think that the leatherback population is perhaps only 1% of what it was just 50 years ago. Human development over the last 50 years is undoubtedly the reason for this.

Humans affect leatherbacks in many ways. Many of the beaches leatherbacks used to lay their eggs at are now covered with hotels and resorts, so there are few places for the turtles to make their nests. In addition, in many parts of the world, people eat the turtle eggs. At one beach in Mexico, almost 100% of all the leatherback nests were dug up and the eggs eaten by humans. The turtles also get caught in fishing nets and die. In the 1950s, there were 5,000 fishing boats in the Gulf of Mexico, a common spot for leatherbacks. Now there are over 55,000 fishing boats in the same area. If the situation does not change soon, the leatherback may disappear forever.

Question 5: As used in the passage, the term endangered animals can best be explained as _____.

- A. a kind of turtle
- B. animals caught in fishing nets
- C. animals in areas where humans live
- D. animals with very low numbers

Question 6: According to paragraph 1, humans pressure animals in all of the following ways EXCEPT _____.

- A. by adding to pollution
- B. by using natural resources
- C. by moving into new areas
- D. by killing the animals

Question 7: According to paragraph 2, why is it difficult to count the numbers of leatherback turtles?

- A. They live most of their lives in the sea.
- B. Their nests are hard to find.
- C. They are scared of humans.
- D. They swim very fast.

Question 8: According to the passage, how do hotels and resorts hurt leatherback turtles?

- A. They bring more people to the beaches to see the animal.
- B. People at the hotels go fishing and eat the turtle eggs.
- C. They occupy the beaches where the turtles lay their eggs.
- D. They pollute the beaches and kill the leatherbacks.

Question 9: The author mentions fishing boats in order to _____.

- A. suggest that the Gulf of Mexico is a good place to catch leatherback turtles
- B. suggest a connection between the rise in fishing and the fall in leatherback turtles

C. explain why there are no leatherback turtles in the Gulf of Mexico

D. show that fishing is becoming more popular in the Gulf of Mexico

Read the passage and choose the best answer (A or B, C, D) from 12 to 21.

If you can roll a ball, you can play bowls. Everyone can play: young and old, men and women, the fit and the not so fit. It is the (12) _____ outdoor game that really is a sport for all. What other sports can grandparents play on equal terms with their grandchildren? What other game is so simple that you could take up it today and be (13) _____ in the national championship tomorrow? Simple? Perhaps that is not the (14) _____ word. There are bowls players in their thousands (15) _____ will tell you that, although bowls is a game that anyone can (16) _____ in five minutes, it takes a lifetime to (17) _____ it. They are the people who have developed a passionate interest in the game. (18) _____ for outsiders, bowls is another world, and a strange and puzzling one. They see a bowl game in action and wonder what is going on.

What the players are trying to do is easy to explain. Their (19) _____ is to roll their bowls, called wood, as near as possible to the little white ball, called the jack. If one of your bowls finishes nearer to the jack than your opponent's, you score one point and he or she scores (20) _____. If you have the two nearest, you score two, and so on. The skill involved in rolling a bowl that weighs around 2 kilos across about 40 meters so that it stops only a very short (21) _____ from the target is just as impressive as the skills required in other sports.
